PATTERN BOOKLET

Break and Retest on real charts

36 real examples from Nifty 500 stocks, 2015 to 2026. Study the shape until you can see it without help.

36	36	2015 to 2026
real examples	different stocks	daily charts

Education only. No advice, no promise of results.

Train your eye

This booklet has one job: to make the pattern familiar. Read it slowly, then test yourself.

1. Look at the shaded band first.
   It marks where the setup forms. Notice its shape and where it sits.

2. Then read left to right.
   What did price do before the band? What does the band itself look like?

3. Repeat across many stocks.
   The same shape appears in different stocks and different years. 36 examples are here on purpose.

4. Test yourself.
   The last section shows charts without the band. Find the setup, then turn the page to check.

5. Open on TradingView.
   Every example has a button that opens the stock on the daily chart. Scroll back to the printed date.

Prices are left off on purpose: read the shape, not the numbers. Examples come from real data and are picked evenly across the years, not for how they ended. This is education, not advice.

01

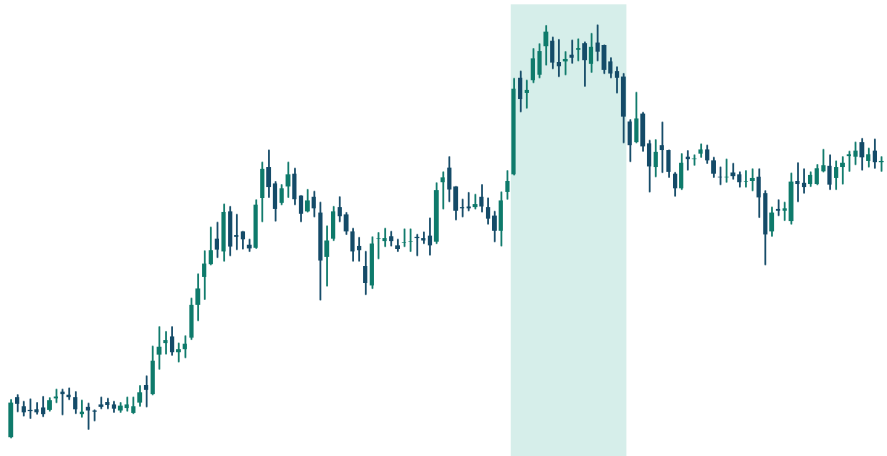

Break and Retest

A level is crossed, then revisited.

Price closes strongly beyond a swing high that had stopped it before. Later it comes back to that same level. The shaded band on every chart is that return.

WHAT TO LOOK FOR

- A clear swing high that price turned away from earlier.
- One strong close beyond it, not just a touch.
- A calm return to the level: price comes back and the level is respected.

Look for the level, the strong close beyond it, then the calm return.
